1,300 FEET OF PIPE

Believed It Will Be Finished Tonight—Fairview Continues to Gain But Pumping Will Be Continued.

On Monday there was a fair sized gang of men at work on the pipe sized to Trading Cove brook, although not as large as ordinarily, because of Christmas. There was much progress made, however, on the work, and it is believed by Superintendent Corkery that the job of laying the pipe will be completed tonight if the conditions are favorable. The carpenters have about got the roof on the pumping station, which job is well along towards completion.

The work on the dam has not been started, as that will be in the nature of a temporary structure which can be a quick built. It is not desired to have the water turned back or stopped until the city is ready to use it. The recent rain has had an appreciable effect upon the stream and a large volume of water is flowing down there daily. The dam will be one of the last things to be undertaken and will then be only sufficient to divert the required amount of water into the well of the pumping station.

The work on the electric wiring is being carried on so that there will be no delay from that part of the work, it is understood.

At Fairview reservoir there continues to be a gain in the water having risen six inches on Monday, making a total rise from the rain up to that time of 36 inches. The water is now 320 inches above the level of the sea.
There is a 24-inch stream flowing into the reservoir from Meadow brook. The cold weather shut off much of the water by freezing, so that there has been more water passing through the pipe to Fairview than has been coming into Meadow brook basin, but the water is to the top of the 34-inch pipe and there will be a large amount of water going into Fairview for a number of days in addition to its own gains.

Fairview is still delivering into the city mains and this has assisted in raising the pressure steadily and keeping it up. Altogether lake holds its own despite the amount pumped from there every day. The pumping station has not been stopped and will not be until it is seen how the pumping station at Trading Cove brook results.

The rumor has been in circulation here for a day or two to the effect that Hartford engineers have been at work for the purpose of closing out its availability for the city of Hartford. The rumor could not be verified and seems to follow one which was to the effect that Hartford was looking after Gardner lake to help out their water supply. Superintendent Corkery stated being that rumor and such a rumor as that about the lake but he had no knowledge as to its foundation. He had not heard of any desire on the part of Hartford to gain the use of the lake basin. Norwich has done with the proposition for good, if the vote of the city meeting is to be considered, and the superintendent of Hartford stated that he could get it if they want it, though to him it seemed out of the way.

children retired, they all hung up their stockings.

Christmas dinner, however, was reserved for Monday and was served at 1 o'clock. Just twenty were present to enjoy the feast of good things.

The dinner was a most excellent one, turkey, mashed potatoes, mashed turnips, boiled onions, cranberry sauce, apples, oranges, mince and squash pie, milk and tea.

At the Almshouse.

Through the generosity of Miss Mary B. Huntington, who furnished a splendid Christmas dinner, and the parish of St. Mary's church, which sent in a generous supply of bananas, oranges, candy and snuff for the men, the inmates of the Norwich almshouse celebrated the Christmas holidays on Monday in a royal manner.

Supt. J. F. Chapman and Mrs. Chapman were in charge and had the dinner ready at exactly 2 o'clock. The following was the menu that was enjoyed by all: Roast spareribs, mashed potatoes, mashed turnips, boiled onions, white bread and butter, cranberry sauce, mince pie, ice cream, cake and tea.

The dinner was concluded Mr. and Mrs. Chapman delighted all with a number of pleasing graphophone selections, which were listened to and enjoyed for the remainder of the afternoon.

At the County Home.

At the county home, on Monday, at 1 o'clock, the Christmas festivities were carried on in a happy and royal manner. Through the generosity of friends of the home, a fine turkey dinner, with all the fixings, was served to the inmates. The children received popcorn balls and candy after the following program had been given: Sing Hallelujah for Christmas, school; Santa's Welcome, Robert Scott, Edna Shaffer, George Shaffer; The Child's Reason, Miriam Griswold; The Story of Christmas, Ruth Stott; Santa Claus, Charles Shaffer; The Night Before Christmas, Madeline Weeks; dialogue,

Shaffer, George Shaffer; Santa Claus song, Santa Claus school; Snow Kisses, Dorothy Larkham; Overland at Christmas, Rowena Fellows; Poor Santa Claus, Herbert Larkham; Christmas Angels, Anna Shaffer; Naming Dolly, Evelyn Stott; Trouble in the Dolls' House, Alice Larkham; dialogue, Disappearing Tree, Ruth Stott, Dorothy Larkham, Anna Shaffer and Raymond Stott; Jolly Old Santa Claus, school.

Avery Family Party.

There was a happy Christmas party at the home of the Avery Brothers on Tuesday evening, December 27, 1910.
A beautiful tree was loaded with gifts. Nineteen members of the family gathered to enjoy the delightful evening.

At THT AUDITORIUM.

Vaudeville and Motion Pictures.

At the Auditorium on Monday there were large crowds at both the afternoon and evening performances. The audience of the most expensive seats that was ever put on the Auditorium boards. Four acts were presented and every one of them was a success and every one of the performers called forth a generous applause. The moving pictures were new and pleased everybody.

At Lehigh appeared in a comedy juggling act, using balls, bats and other objects. He was a wonderful performer and his act was a success. He was bristled of fun and his performance called out a good hand. Kilo and Bavlis, a European operatic novelty of New London, appeared and singing that was much appreciated. The several changes of costume added a variety to their act. For the third act there were three Irish troupe-dancers who made a decided hit with their line singing and playing on various instruments. Palmer and Parker and company were the foot-liners and they presented The College Girl Athlete and Her Dog Mike. The dog work and the girl under the direction of her trainer, does a pleasing turn.
This act concludes with a wrestling match between the girl and her trainer and furnishes no end of fun for the audience.
